Meeker Says Model Cities Has Impact

(Editors Note: The following remarks were made by David O. Meeker Jr., assistant secretary for community planning and development HUD, as introductory remarks to the National Association of Model Cities Community Development Directors Association's annual report.)

"Model Cities, more than any other federal program implemented in recent history, has had a dramatic effect upon cities and citizens throughout the nation. The winds of change caused by Model Cities, ranging from hurricane force in some communities to just a breeze in others, are unmistakable and, in almost every instance, for the good. And the influence of Model Cities already has extended far beyond the 147 cities which were directly affected by the program.

"Just for a moment, let's look in broad terms at some of the positive effects which Model Cities has caused:

"First: The most apparent effect of Model Cities has been the infusion of large sums of money into cities and towns which were previously unable, through their own resources, to bring to all of their citizens the full range of services which are the responsibility of local government to deliver. Tragically, it was the poor who often found themselves on the short end when municipal budgets ran thin and services were limited. Model Cities funding made possible in most instances the full range of services which we have come to expect from local government, such as adequate police protection, quality education, proper sanitation services, and a host of others. But more importantly, the additional capital gave communities the funds to expand into other areas desperately needing attention, such as employment opportunities, the delivery of adequate health care, pre-school training facilities, day-care centers, recreation, and a wide variety of other special services dictated by individual community needs.

"Second" The planning process leading to Model Cities funding which necessarily involved the presence and participation of people from all parts of our society, brought together, often for the first time, a representative cross section of our citizens. The needs of the poor finally were heard and, more significantly, understood by those who were in a position to do something about them. The end result was that many of our citizens, especially the poor, minorities and special interest groups, were no longer onlookers of the governmental process, but were full participants in it. And it was demonstrated to all concerned that needed goals could be accomplished through cooperation instead of confrontation.

"Third: Probably the most lasting effect of Model Cities has been its impact upon the structure of local government in relation to current needs and priorities. In other words, many government leaders were attracted through the process to assess their traditional ways of conducting city business, in terms of serving the needs of the people, and many found that drastic changes were needed. An evolution is going on in many communities today, and will continue for years to come, to bring the services and resources of government into line with the needs of all citizens. This is necessary--in fact, imperative--if our cities and other basic institutions of our society are to flourish.

"Finally: The delivery of block funding to the cities, and with it the return of responsibility and accountability from the Federal Government to local government, has caused the participants to establish appropriate structures and train the skilled personnel necessary for what will be the mode of the future as current legislation before the Congress becomes a reality. In all of these vital areas, Model Cities has been the catalyst for the development of concepts, organizational structures, and municipal relationships that point the way to a means of providing a better quality of life for countless citizens.

Urgent Health Notice on Contraceptive Device!

Planned Parenthood of Pierce County and Family Planning Clinic of the Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department are in the process of issuing notification to all of their clinic patients who are using the Dalkon Shield Intrauterine Device as a method of contraception to return to the clinics for counselling because of recent information released by the A.H. Robins Company, manufacturer of the device.

Although the risk appears to be a small one, A.H. Robins reports the possibility of septic abortion if the woman using this device becomes pregnant while the device is in place. 2,200,000 devices have been inserted in American women and 36 spontaneous abortions have occurred with four fatalities.

Acting in the best interest for the health and well being of their patients, Planned Parenthood and Family Planning have arranged for special counselling for the Dalkon patients with possible alternative methods of birth control made available to them.

Planned Parenthood and Family Planning operate birth control clinics which serve about 5,000 patients each year.

Home Repair Swindle Season

Save yourself time, money and grief; don't fall for a home improvement racket.

Phony bargains, worthless guarantees, inferior materials, dishonest financing and poor workmanship are all common characteristics of home repair swindles, says Lucille Debose, Washington State University's Pierce county Extension agent.

Door-to-door salesmen cause the most trouble, she says. "They suddenly appear at your door, saying they were in the neighborhood and noticed your house needed repairs. Or, they say they happen to have some materials left over from another job that they can let you have cheap."

Once inside your home, the salesman will offer all kinds of proof that you need whatever he's selling. This proof may range from charts and figures to termites and other bugs.

Regardless of how he persuades you, he will next insist you sign a contract at once and make a down payment. Read the contract and you'll undoubtedly notice all the fine promises he made you verbally are missing.

Once you sign the contract, you're committed to making payments no matter what the quality of work that's done. Too many homeowners have had workmen start the job and then suddenly disappear, says Mrs. Debose. "And, how can you track down a door-to-door salesman?"

Before you agree to buy any home improvements, give local companies a chance to bid. They'll still be around to back up their guarantees or make repairs if a fix-up job is bad.

Asian Day

"Gee, you Asians sure are together! How do you do it?" One of the most interesting results of the May 25 festival has been the number of non-Asian minorities who have responded this way after Asian Day.

Though this view may be somewhat superficial, it does point out the strength and the success of Asian Day. Certainly the festival could have been better and the many Asian communities have a long way to go to be really together, but by and large, we should all be very proud of ourselves for the way in which we worked together to share our cultures and experiences with each other and with the general public.

For those who were unable to attend, the second annual Asian Day festival was held in honor of Asian Community Worker Keiko Lake and featured entertainment, food displays, and workshops from many different Asian American cultures.

Evaluations and accounting for Asian Day have not yet been completed, but it seems safe to call the occasion a tremendous success. In addition to at least 650 advance tickets sold, 523 were sold at the door. The total attendance of all those who came must have been at least 1500!

Space and time do not allow us to personally thank all the individuals and organizations who worked as hard in making Asian Day a success. The list is almost endless. We just want you to know that your efforts are deeply appreciated.

Arthur Wang, Asian Day Co-chairperson.

Metropolitan Development Council Health Outreach Fact Sheet

America's most common childhood disease -

Lead Poisoning--The Silent Epidemic is a totally preventable disease, inflicted on the defenseless poor.

A combination of Pica-Voracious indiscriminate appetite that afflicts 20% of all children 1-5 in poor housing.

Other children have pica, but not walls and plaster flaking and cracking, sweet tasting chips of leaded paint.

20 - 40% of all children living in the slums with lead poisoning between 1-6 are afflicted, in acute stage-death. If not, 25% permanent brain damage; mental retardation, epilesy, cerebral palsy severe IQ loss.

How much lead? "Safe" daily dose 0.5 milligrams. A child may ingest 250 milligrams in one small piece of plaster, or a few paint flakes. If eaten 3 times per week, could be lethal within three months.

Symptoms are common to other illnesses, not indicative precisely of lead poisoning, unless special lead tests, often undiagnosed, asymptomatic is 25 times more prevalent - discovered when general testing initiated.

High recurrence rate must be repaired at once. To treat child and put him back in contaminated environment is almost criminal.

Treatment is important since cases occur after child removed from leaded environment, amounts in bones released later need watching and treatment; an iceberg 90% of problem incisible on surface.

Three bills passed in house, Congressman Ryan, New York. A companion bill includes same provisions in Senate introduced by Ted Kennedy.

Does Provide:

a. Up to 75% of cost of local government's lead program of education, testing, follow-up, paid by Federal government.

b. Up to 75% of cost of local government's lead program for testing and detecting paid by Federal Government.

c. Making Federal Funds currently available for rehabilitation and code enforcement only available to community with viable, functioning lead ordinance.

Costs $220,000 to put a severely retarded child in an institution.

Costs $17,000 for retarded child's education.

Usually costs less than $1,000 for landlord to cover lead based interior surface. Cost of lead poisoning is borne by the whole community in terms of wasted human resources, institutionalization of victims, resulting burdens on municipal health facilities and finances.

THE FACTS—SPORTS SCENE

Sports Record Book

by Brian Jaybush

A Change for the Better?

So within a period of eight days, Seattle leaped into the national spotlight, sports-wise. For an investment of some $24 million, Seattle (1) grabbed a franchise in the National Football League, (2) nabbed one in the National Hockey League, and (3) landed a young man for $2 million who should make the established Sonics a bona fide playoff contender.

But all three of those sport-lights are in the future. The football team (whose name we don't know yet) and the hockey team (which will retain the name "Totems") don't begin play until 1976 (or maybe football in 1975 if the NFL has a change of heart). Even the Sonics won't find out just how good their new 7-foot-2 millionaire really is until late fall, when NBA competition resumes.

Meanwhile, the Seattle Sounders are playing away the summer right now. And they're not only playing their way into the hearts and minds of the City of Seattle, they are also literally tearing up the North American Soccer League.

Playing last Saturday night in front of more than 12,000 fans again (to keep their home attendance record well above the 12-thousand mark) the Sounders extended their current winning streak to three when they smashed--not strong enough, make it demolished--the Comets from Baltimore, 6-1.

Doesn't sound too impressive? It should. A number of facts that should be noted:

- Baltimore is one of the "established" NASL teams, and one of the higher scoring ones, too. It's not often they're outscored 6-1.
- Baltimore is currently leading the NASL Eastern Division with the second-best record in the league.
- Seattle's win Saturday raised the Sounders' record to 5 wins, 4 losses--exactly the same wa the record Baltimore now has.
- Seattle is an expansion club that has only played nine games. Ever.

Even more impressive than these facts is the fact that, if the playoffs were held today, the Sounders would probably be right in the middle of them. As in hockey, each team is awarded a certain amount of points for winning; and on the basis of those points, the playoff teams are chosen. The team with the most points in each of the four divisions is in, plus the two second-place teams with the most points.

Right now the four division leaders are Boston, Baltimore, Dallas and Los Angeles. The second-place teams with the most points are Seattle and Philadelphia/Miami.

That Philadelphia/Miami tie is where the probably comes in. Philly and Miami each have 47 points to Seattle's 44; but Miami's win-loss-tie record is only 3-2-4, while Seattle is 5-4-0 and Philly 5-4-1. Sounders publicity man Hal Childs says the league hasn't decided yet what to do if the situation is this way at the end of the season; but probably the points tie would be broken by looking at the win-loss records. In such a case, as things stand now, the Sounders--in their very first season of pro soccer--would be in the playoffs.

And the way they're playing right now, they would stand a good chance of bringing a national sports championship to Seattle.

Oh, well, the NASL playoffs are still in the future, too, just like football and hockey. There is still a dim chance that the Sounders might uphold the Seattle tradition of fading in the stretch to finish out of the money.

But then, maybe Seattle's winning of two new franchises is an omen. Maybe's the city's luck has changed.

We certainly hope so.

Tee & Turf Golf Association

by Cliff Dabney

Tee & Turf golfers have been enjoying some good weather and lots of golf. Last weekend several members played in the City Amateur Golf Tourney - Sorry to say none qualified to play the final two rounds. Winston played well the first day with a neat 73, but had his troubles the second day. Herb and Morehead had nothing but problems. Herb has been hitting the ball sideways (shanking) for the past two weeks. Ms. Alice, I'm told, is doing real well, but needs a shorter putter. The club is planning a cocktail sip and golf attire fashion show for the near future. The club president, Herb Dailey, stressed at the last meeting the necessity for all members to attend meetings. He said, "A few of us can't continue to carry the load for all the members." He went on to say, "Meetings are very cordial and relaxed and we need a lot of help from all our members to make the club a success."

Several members ventured to Tumwater Golf Club Sunday. The course was in excellent shape and a real treat to play. Any club members who wish to make the next outing to Tumwater should contact Herb before Saturday, June22nd. Many such trips are being planned for those who can get away on Sunday. All you have to do is let your president know your wishes. Mr. Slater and his committee are doing a fine job scheduling our weekend play. The weather is great, the courses are in good shape. Now what's your excuse for not getting out? See you on the first tee.....Mr. "D"

Q--Is there an age limit and expiration date for using the VA loan privilege? Also, what is the maximum loan limit? I served in World War II and Korea and retired from the Army in 1960.
A--There is no age limit for GI Bill loans, nor is there a deadline by which entitlement must be used. The deadlines were removed by Congress. Except for direct VA loans, there is no maximum amount. The only restriction is on the amount guaranteed by VA, which is 60 percent of the loan, up to $12,500. The amount of the loan is discretionary with the lending agency. For VA direct loans, $25,000 is the maximum.

Q--My niece is the daughter of a veteran who dies as a result of a service-connected disability. I believe that she is eligible for medical care benefits from the VA. As her mother is also deceased, what form of identification should she use to show entitlement to Champ VA benefits? She gets DIC.
A--Your niece will receive VA Form 10-7952 (a green-striped card), advising her that she may be eligible for Champ VA benefits.

Q--I'm allowed to buy up to $15,000 servicemen's Group Life Insurance. Can I designate several beneficiaries and name the split?
A--Yes.

THE FACTS ENTERTAINMENT

Boogie Down Tacoma

by Spencer L. Sears

The past weekend was a monster! Saturday night "Jonah's Whale" was at the Branch #3 N.C.O. at Ft. Lewis. By 7:00 there was standing room only. The club manager says "this is without a doubt the hottest band in the northwest."

"Ready Made Family" played to a packed house and patio at the Caballero Club, June 15. It was definitely a ready made affair. 'Tee McGee and the Rapid Pulsations" really got down at the Amvets Hall.

"Luv" played at the Main Club at Ft. Lewis and the Officers Club.

"Che Che" provided the entertainment at the Caballeros Sunday. He really gets down with the latest sounds and 'feeds the feeling to the funk'. Tony Ward and W.C. Jones were special guests at the Jam Session for "Tee McGee" who is really putting a good show together for your entertainment. Tony Ward can be considered as a 'junior' Cannonball Adderley. Keep on trucking, Tony! The great Ella Fitzgerald, the late great Billie Holiday and Roberta Flack provide worldwide entertainment. BUT, Sherry Lewis of Tacoma is definitely joining the ranks.

The Northwest Entertainment Consultant Corporation will have its first annual picnic for all musicians, entertainers, and their guests on August 4 at the Single Tree Ranch. For further information, contact chairperson Billy Jones at 537-4577 or Che Che at 572-7326.

Check this out! "Jonah's Whale" is taking a week off, getting ready to cut their first big album. Hopefully it will be on the market by, September. Remember this and be the first at the Enterprise Record Shop on "K" Street to pick up on this hot sound!

"Black and White Affair" will appear at the Land of the Giants June 28 and 29 to give the younger set a chance to keep the "soul train" moving.

Che Che is working on an all-city 'boogie down' street dance! That's past and future happenings, keep reading the FACTS and stay informed!!!

Fantastic Black Facts

by Rose Marie Johnson

About half of the 40,000 Methodist churches in the U.S. participated in the Key '73 evangelistic effort.

Another interdenominational thrust was the challenge to investments in multi-national cooperations with policies anti-thetical to the churches stands on colonialism and racism, particulary in Southern Africa.

Locally, the Pacific Northwest Conference of the United Methodist Church made history when it convened its centennial session at Gonzanga University in Spokane, June 6th to June 10th For the first time during its denomination, ecumenical services transpired with direct participation of the Catholic priest. Also for the first time, in the history of the Methodist Church, an Asian was appointed Bishop. At the Jurisdictional Conference in Seattle in 1972, Bishop Wilbur W.Y. Choy was appointed Resident Bishop-Seattle area- The United Methodist Church with Jurisdiction over the State of Washington and Northern Idaho United Methodist Churches. Bishop Choy grew up in Stockton, California. He graduated from the University of the Pacific in 1946 and from the Pacific University of Religion, Berkeley, California, in 1949.

There are only a few Black United Methodist Churches in the Pacific Northwest. Seattle has one and while Tacoma hasn't any black United Methodist Churches, black residents who United Methodists, or who wish to become members, are being welcomed by several of the 20 Tacoma Methodist Churches. To date, blacks have not been elected to staff positions. Neither have they been elected as secretaries or receptionists to staff members. Blacks have been active as Conference board and Committee members. One balck has been elected as Chairperson for a committee; one elected Coordinator for a Racial Encounter Group; and as a representative to a National Convocation on the Black Church.

During the week of June 12th thru June 16th, United Methodist Church N/W Conference will be in session at the University of Puget Sound, under the direction of its Resident Bishop, Bishop Wilbur W.Y. Choy. The theme of the Conference is: 'Liberation-Justice-Self Development of Peoples!'

IF A HOUSING PROGRAM OFFERED ANYTHING LESS, IT WOULD NOT BE PROPERLY SERVING YOU.

Remodeling to meet and exceed housing codes and enhance a home's appearance takes many hours of planning and labor to get the job done right. To assist you in this, an experienced NDP Staff is available. You may need plans to be drawn; you might want to know the cost of installation of materials; some people request only to have their home inspected to find any potential hazards and know what is required to meet Minimum Housing Code. Did you know that all contractors are screened for insurance, bonds, licenses, and job references before they are awarded a contract to perform work in the NDP Area?.....

In the past seven months, (as pictured) a substantial number of homes have been in various stages of rehabilitation. Over $200,000 in grants and low 3% interest loans are providing the dollars to get the job done.

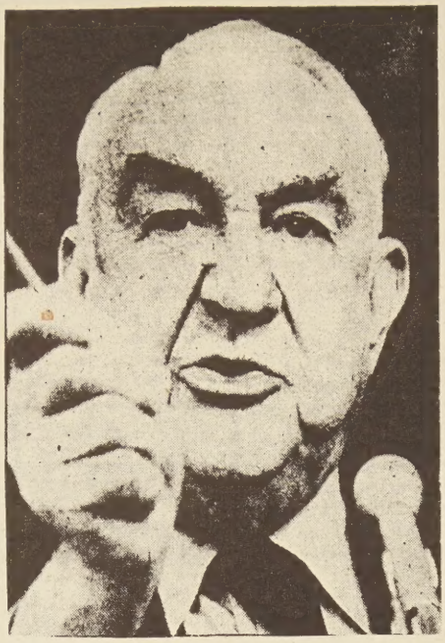
Ervin Returns To Anti-Busing Fight



U. S. Senator Sam Ervin, of North Carolina of the Watergate hearings fame, turned his attention to hearings last week that are designed to end busing in school desegregation. Too many people had forgotten that he has a long record of being opposed to civil rights laws.

Sen. Sam Ervin won the hearts of many blacks last year with his Watergate hearings and his open fight with President Richard Nixon. Most blacks have forgotten that Ervin has a long record of being opposed to civil rights. Last week he let everyone know that, where blacks are concerned, he is still unchanged in his views and objectives.

On the one side, Sen. Sam is the leading Senate exponent of civil liberties, willing to do battle even with a President he believes violated the Constitution.

On the other side, he is a product of the old South, a man who helped direct his Southern Democratic colleagues in virtually every fight against civil rights bills.

He sponsored a bill to make illegal the use of lie detectors for determining employee fitness or for office security while battling almost single-handedly against the equal rights for women amendment.

He opposed no-knock and preventative-protection bills while fighting the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

He has supported the Supreme Court ban against prayer in schools while opposing voter registration by mail.

In Ervin's mind, there is no contradiction in his behavior. In each case, he has followed the Constitution as he reads it. "Unfortunately, the view that civil rights legislation is synonymous with freedom is a common attitude, and, in my view, a common mistake," he once said.

"For the record, I have never said an unkind word about any race or about any man because of his race. My stand is unequivocal. . ."

Some have suggested that Ervin's paradoxical politics have been forced on him by racist voters in his home state. During the Watergate hearings, for example, Louis Heren, foreign editor of the Times of London, wrote of Ervin: "He, Senator Fullbright, and other fine members of the Senate would not have been re-elected if they had voted otherwise."

Ervin, who officially ended the Watergate hearings the same day he began his stop-busing hearings, confused some liberals to the point of desperation.

Last summer a history professor at Duke University in Ervin's home state of North Carolina wrote to say he never before had been "a great admirer of yours" but felt "deep appreciation" for the Watergate probe.

Many students at Yale University (where Ervin lectured earlier this month) regard the senator as a hero because of Watergate, said an Ervin aide. Most weren't aware of his outspoken opposition to civil rights legislation in the past.

Girl State Program

The week of June 9th through June 16, 1974 at Central Washington State College was the scene of activity for 423 girls selected from various schools throughout the state. The college is located in Ellensburg, and the program is called Girl State. It has been sponsored by the American Legion Auxilliary unit for the past twenty five years. The purpose is to inform each girl of the City, County and State Governments.

Special events include a talent show, a Candlelight Ceremony, and Awards Assembly and the inauguration of the New Evergreen Girl State Officers.

Each girl represented her high school because of her scholastic achievement. These were selected by her school advisors, Girl State Committee and local American Auxilliary Unit. Also taken into consideration were her good school citizenship, leadership qualities and physical fitness.

Frances Elaine Jackson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Jackson, 2101 East Sweet street, was selected to represent Stadium High School. Elaine had an "A" average as a graduating senior this year. While at CWS College, she held the offices of City Councilwoman, Lobbyist and Director of Insurance Commission. Elaine also qualified to practice as an Attorney and Counselor at law in the Supreme Court and in all the Courts of Evergreen Girl State.

Elaine was sponsored by Dr. George Washington Carver Unit #222. Another contributor was Saturday Morning Brunch Club. The Local Chairperson is Mrs. Neaves Patterson. Mrs. Madge Jordon is President of Dr. Washington Carver Unit #222.

Elaine is personally thanking the local sponsors, George Washington Carver #222 and the Saturday Morning Brunch Club, for the unforgettable experience made possible by them and everyone connected with this wonderful event.

News From Citizens Affirmative Action Committee

By Andre B. Young

The Citizens Affirmative Action Committee is an action oriented group dedicated to the enforcement of Federal, State and Local Anti-Discrimination Laws. We believe that equal employment will not be accomplished through words, explanations of "we are trying but can't find qualified people", or the present way agencies are handling the enforcement of anti-discrimination and affirmative action laws.

We feel that one way to incure enforcement, is by educating ourselves and the community about laws, monitoring employers, and taking legal action against those out of compliance. Presently we have filed a complaint against the Port of Tacoma, are working on an Affirmative Action Plan for Tacoma Public Schools, are monitoring the City of Tacoma and Pierce County, and are investigating the Clover Park School District and Comprehensive Mental Health. We are also avaioable to support individuals who are considering or have filed complaints with enforcement agencies.

We are committed to fighting Racism and Sexism and its result of oppression on our communities. Our meetings are held every Saturday, 10:00 A.M., at the Black Business Association Club House on 2106 South "J". If you are interested in an action program, to improve the economic and employment situation in our communities and seeing that laws are enforced for the people.....JOIN US!!

It is human nature to think wisely and to act in an absurd fashion.

The Retail Clerks Strike and YOUR Food Costs!

We are sorry for any inconvenience to you and your family because of the Retail Clerks Union Strike. However, a Retail Clerks Strike is more than a mere inconvenience. It affects every pocket book in the entire Puget Sound area.

We believe our Food Clerks deserve a fair wage increase and we have made what we feel is a very good offer for increased wages. Under our proposal, full-time Journeyman Food Clerks will make a minimum of $215.00 per week immediately, an increase of over 10%; and a Sunday premium rate for Sunday work of $8.0625 per hour. They will receive a total of $45.00 per week in wage increases over the term of the Agreement plus cost-of-living increases, resulting in one of the highest--a minimum of $6.00 per hour--Food Clerk rates in the U.S.A.

In addition to the above wage increases, we have offered substantial increases in Employer paid Health & Welfare, Dental and Vision Care, etc., an increase from $50.17 to over $74.00 per month during the Agreement. We have also offered to increase our Pension contributions from $34.60 to $51.90 per month, a 50% increase. The Union is still demanding that we pay substantially more than what we have offered in wages and other benefits. Everyone knows who really pays the bills when costs go up. THE CONSUMER PAYS!!! It would be easy for us to say "YES" to the Union's inflationary demands and then simply pass the increased costs on to you, THE CONSUMER.

We want to be fair to our Food Clerks and have made what we believe to be an extremely fair offer, but someone has to take a stand against inflation and attempt to hold down spiralling food costs. THAT'S WHAT WE ARE TRYING TO DO ! ! ! Some area food stores are not supporting us in this fight against inflation.

ALL OF OUR STORES ARE OPEN FOR BUSINESS AS USUAL . . .

WITH FULL STORE SERVICES AVAILABLE!

WE NEED YOUR SUPPORT! If you want to do something to help hold the line against inflation . . . SHOP OUR STORES NOW!

AN AD AGENCY, taking a poll on the streets of New York, came up with some interesting findings on the subject of happiness. A lot of people felt they had found real happiness, women generally more so than men, especially those in their mid-twenties to mid-thirties who were married. The happiest people were those in the middle income range. People with religious convictions tended to feel themselves happier than those with none.

MODEL CITIES NEWS

HUD Official Wants Active Director

Richard Coward, special assistant for the Department of Housing and Urban Development, told the Region Ten Citizens Council board that the person who is hired as director of the regional council should understand that he will be "overworked and underpayed."

Mr. Coward, from the office of community planning and development HUD in Washington D.C., visited the regional citizens meeting to talk about a contract awarded to the council by HUD.

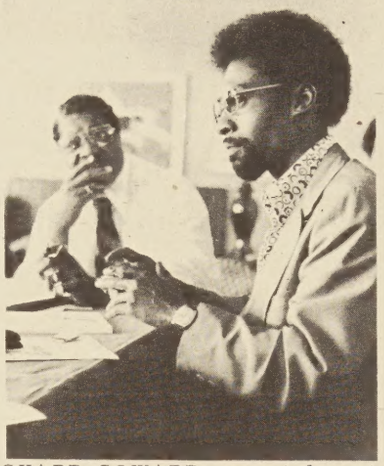
Mr. Coward said that the contract was to provide a regional office of grass root citizens who could explain pending legislation and new programs to citizens in the region. He said that HUD has awarded the contract because it does not have the capability to communicate with grass roots citizens the way other citizens can.

Mr. Coward said that the region, which includes Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Alaska, has a lot to do in a short time since it is getting a late start and it will only have a six month contract. He encouraged the group, which mainly represents Model Cities programs in the region, to form coalitions with other citizens groups to increase the power of the organization to deal with government.

Lester McCants, newly appointed head of citizens participation for the regional HUD office in Seattle, also urged the council to select an active director. He pledged his support to the regional council and the individual citizen participation councils from the Model Cities programs.

The personnel committee and the board for the Region Ten Citizens Council plans to meet this weekend to select the director for the citizens group.

On Monday, Junior N.R. Ellis, president of the council signed the HUD contract for $18,600 which will allow the region to hire a director and set up an office.



RICHARD COWARD, special assistant for HUD, told the Region Ten Citizens Council that their director will be "overworked and underpayed". Council President Junior N.R. Ellis listens intently to the comments.

Tacoma Model Cities Gets More Funds

Model Cities Director Keith Palmquist announced last week that Tacoma's program will receive an additional $202,000 . Another $351,000 may be available to Tacoma if the city wants to use the funds.

The $202,000 appropriation comes from the $75 million recently released by President Richard Nixon to help Model Cities make the transition to community development revenue sharing. Congress had appropriated $150 million for Model Cities, but the President had been holding $75 million until a few weeks ago.

Congress has agreed to approve more transitional funds for Model Cities, the amount used will be deducted from the city's community development funds planned for Jan. 1, 1975. Essentially, Tacoma can borrow from its community development fund.

The Model Cities Executive Board decided to wait until their next meeting on June 27 before making any recommendations to the city about borrowing the funds. Board members seemed to favor using the funds, but they wanted to study the proposal before deciding whether to ask the city for the funds or not.

With the last funding, Model Cities had been scheduled to phase out on Dec. 31, 1974, but the additional money would allow the program to continue into 1975 if desired.

Tacoma is assured of $202,000, but the $351,000 may not be available for Model Cities. The $202,000, which came from the last $75 million released, is a large reduct ion from the $500,000 Tacoma received when the first $75 million was released earlier this year.

Property Taxes Discussed at Task Force

KEN MADSEN, from the Tax Assessor's office, told the Model Cities Task Force that inflation and increasing property taxes make it hard for elderly and young people to own homes. Chairman John Tatum is seated to the left of Mr. Madsen.

Ken Madsen, from the County Tax Assessor's office, told the Model Cities Task Force that inflation and increasing property taxes are forcing elderly persons out of their homes and preventing young people from buying homes.

He said that the Pierce County Tax Assessor was working on two programs to help the tax problem. One is a self-assessment program which will make better use of taxes, but not necessarily reduce them. The other is a proposal to tax land on its current use. This would mean that your taxes would not go up just because a new store moved into the next block. Each piece of property would be taxed according to what it was being used for.

Mr. Madsen also said that his office thinks the assessments in the Hilltop are too high. He said they are running a test to check the value of property in the area and possibly lower some of the taxes.

Executive Board Chairman Junior N.R. Ellis talked about the recent Region Ten Citizens Council board meeting. He also discussed the recent Model Cities funding and the possibility of applying for the full grant allocated to Tacoma.

Tacoma Students Scholarships Awarded Research

Two Tacoma students have been awarded Model Cities Exploration Scholarships to work on archeological research projects this summer.

Leo Trusclair Jr., 1919 S. M St., will help scientists search for an indian hunting ground this summer in an expedition called Bison Kill in Nebraska. Leo is a senior at Bellarmine Preparatory School planning to become a doctor.

Dorinda Raglind, 1106 S. 25th St., will help a team of scientists excavate an early indian dwelling in an expedition called Mogollon Pueblo in New Mexico. Dorinda is a nursing student at Tacoma Community College.

The scholarships are awarded by Educational Expeditions International and funded by Model Cities programs throughout the United States. Leo and Dorinda were nominated by Tacoma Model Cities as students with outstanding ability in science living in the Model Neighborhood. Both students were selected in a national screening of candidates.

The explorer program is designed to allow outstanding science students the opportunity to work with prominent scientists on current research projects. Expeditions are conducted worldwide in a variety of disciplines from anthropology to volcanology.

Leo will be participating in an archeological dig called Bison Kill being conducted by Dr. Larry Agenbroad, professor of earth sciences at Chardon State College in Nebraska. The site to be excavated is a hunting ground about 9,000 years old which contains skeletons of animals from a number of areas in the United States.

More than 200 animals, both extinct and modern species of bison, have been recovered. The goal of the research project is to locate the site where the animals were killed and to piece together the skulls of the animals.

Leo will be working on the project from July 27 to Aug. 12.

Dorinda will be working with the Mogollan Pueblo project headed by Dr. Stanley D. Bussey, professor of anthropology at New Mexico State University. The site to be excavated contains several stone masonry homes and a ceremonial building of the Mogollon Indians who occupied the southwestern United States as far back as 300 B.C.

The scholarship winners will help the scientists compare the artifacts found at various Mogollon settlements to try to find a clue to why the culture disappeared.

Dorinda was a scholarship winner in last year's program working on a marine biology project in Massachusetts.

NDP Loan Application Deadline Near

This week is the last chance for Neighborhood Development Program residents to apply for a loan from the $500,000 awarded to Urban Renewal.

The Neighborhood Development Program (NDP) offers homeowners in the area from South 19th to 25th Streets and from Sheridan to L Streets the chance to borrow money at 3 per cent interest for home improvements. Most conventional home improvement loans are up to 11 per cent interest or more, if the money is even available.

Unless more NDP residents apply for loans in the next few days, some of the $500,000 could be returned to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). All applications have to be su bmitted to HUD by June 30, so you have to apply now if you want to participate in this phase of the program.

The NDP has already completed rehabilitation of a number of homes in the area. The quality work is done by private contractors of the owner's choice under the supervision of the NDP staff. If you would like to see some of the the completed work, stop by the NDP site office at 2110 S. L St. and ask the staff about some of the work which has been completed.

For more information call the NDP at 593-4878.

BEFORE NDP began working on this house it needed a number of improvements outside including painting and a railing.

ALL OF THE needed repairs have been made by the Neighborhood Development Program.

Board Supports Group Home Location

The Model Cities Executive Board recommended that the City Council approve the proposed location of the Model Cities Group Home for Boys near St. Patrick Church.

The Planning Commission has approved a special use permit which would allow the home to house eight boys, but neighbors to the proposed site have appealed the decision of the commission to the City Council. The council will hear the appeal on June 25 and decide whether the group home should be located in the St. Patrick Church neighborhood.

If the council approves the special use permit, remodeling will begin on the home and a director will be hired, according to Sherry Swain, representative for the operating agency Pierce County Homes for Youth.

The group home has received support from a number of agencies and some of the neighbors even though many of the neighbors objected to the use permit. Ms. Swain is looking for support from individuals and agencies and would appreciate the help of anyone interested in the group home concept.

For more information, call Ms. Swain at 752-7794.

Council to Consider New Drug Program

The City Council will consider several Model Cities projects this week including a new drug program designed to reach the black drug abuser.

The Drug Service System will be operated by the Pierce County Drug Alliance and funded by Model Cities for $27,876. The new program is a response to traditional drug treatment centers which do not feel they are helping the black drug abuser. The experimental program will try to determine if there is a drug problem in the black community, and if so, how black addicts can be helped.

Most of the work will be done by volunteers and consultants with a small staff to coordinate the operation.

One of the major objectives of the project is to compile a list of persons who have demonstrated their ability to help black drug abusers. After outreach workers have identified drug abusers and referred them for counselors on the list. The client and the counselor will work out a therapy program.

Therapists will receive $10 an hour for their services which will be supervised and coordinated by the project staff. By referring clients to certain counselors, who have individual techniques for helping the drug abuser, the program hopes to make some generalizations about what methods are most effective with certain types of persons.

A drug awareness and edueation campaign is also included in the contract. The program is scheduled to run from July through December, 1974.

Several other existing Model Cities projects are on the council agenda. The projects include Public Defender, Minority Contractors, Tacoma Area Child Tutoring, and Family Clinic.
